

Changes for Laugh Happy:

When you post things... when scrolling you can't see the whole post. Can that be fixed? The questions when you register. I definitely want the question about have you hurt animals removed. And maybe any other one. I feel it was too many questions. The whole screen itself the bottom buttons (the home, magnifying, notification) need to be raised because my phone buttons are there and I can't hit the laugh happy buttons unless I remove my navigation on phone. I know sounds confusing so I'll send picture after this text. We should be able to post picture without description and title. I say don't need to put either but if you need to have one just title but again that should be an option. And I want everyone to be public... if you want you can go private. I tried to send someone a note but I couldn't because we weren't following each other. So basically I want to see everyone's post and I want to send someone a note without us following each other. Thank you so much and I'll attach the photo of the navigation thing

PIC•COLLAGE

See on bottom the phone buttons are onto of the laugh happy buttons

Those pictures replace the pictures you have now on the front
Same words.. Just changing these pictures
That's replacing the one you have now that says before laugh happy and after
